ALLEN DULLES SEES NEW RISE OF MALENKOV

Intelligence Chief Also
Predicts Peril For Red
Dictatorship

CPYRGHT

Cincinnati, April 20 (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, United States intelligence chief, predicted tonight that Georgi Malenkov, former Soviet Premier, "may be coming back again to a position of greater influence" in the Kremlin.

Dulles also said his guess is that the Soviet dictatorship, by its emphasis on scientific education and technology, may be sowing the seeds of its own destruction.

But, as of now, he said, Americans should realize that "the Soviets can achieve any particular objective we can achieve" in the atomic and aircraft and any other technical-industrial field.

In a few years' time at present rates of training, he said Russia "will attain an imposing advantage" over the United States in the number of scientists and engineers.

Addesses Forum

Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, and director of the Central Intelligence Agency, made these statements in a speech at a University of Cincinnati forum. The forum was arranged as part of the university's fiftieth anniversary of cooperative education.

Dulles said America is in no immediate danger of attack from Russia. He said there are only two ways such an attack would come—by atomic attack if United States defenses or retaliatory power are weakened, and by Soviet confidence born of "industrial parity with the U.S.A." He said neither appear in prospect in the near future.

He said Soviet production of machine tools now exceeds that of the United States. But he said their use of these tools for consumer goods lags considerably—for example, United States washing machine output tops Russia's 50-1.

Demoted For Campaign

He recalled that Malenkov, when Soviet Premier, tried to turn out more consumer goods and in the process Malenkov was demoted.

"Malenkov is still in the Politburo (the Kremlin's board of directors)," Dulles said, "and he may be coming back again to a position of greater influence..."
